

COME BACK

Standing here, I don't like this anymore

I won't break

I'm not gonna

I'm not gonna break my

I'm not gonna break my body

Any more, for this

No more kisses for a kiss

No more of this

My senses can't resist

Oh, am I supposed to surrender this

And mind my faith

I just don't like this anymore

I just look around and see

That I can't just surrender

My arms are broke

My back is broke

And I got a shakedown-through

And sitting by, and all's lost

Not running for the door, anymore

She said, I can't confess, and oh, I don't remember

She opens wide and I can see
Everything inside of me
And I just can't believe the things
That I just can't believe in my body

That deep inside, the things can hide
And everything is deep in pride
And all the things that I can be
And I just can't remember any longer
While I hold on to this body

A deep surrender that I can make
And I can be and I can take
You remember me that way
My own mother always said
Love and my affection
My affection for you
My, my body
My, my, my surrender
I lost my
My hope
Surrounding me, hope
In this mind unrest
And this, my kiss for you

I don't like this anymore and

I can't even up the score for you

What am I supposed to do

About the things that I can see

That you can see

That I can be and you can be

And we can do

All things I remember, now

I can try and I can shout

We can always be in there

Always be around in time

My, my times for this and that

Now and then, I've been stabbed

Open up your heart for me
